

ENVIRONMENTAL COMMITMENT

At OPD, we are serious about sustainability. We recognise that we must meet the needs of our customers, without adversely impacting the environment.

OPD commits to conducting our business operations with a high standard of environmental care; to supporting our products through their whole-of-life cycle; and to reducing our waste; and re-using, re-purposing or recycling products where practicable.

We do this by;

- Offering a range of environmentally sustainable and ethically sourced products, certified to globally recognised standards;
- Ensuring that our procurement activities consider the environmental and ethical impact of our suppliers and services sourced from New Zealand and overseas;
- Working with suppliers who promote sound environmental practices within their manufacturing and distribution facilities;
- Being an environmentally responsible organisation; and using within our own businesses, processes that do not adversely affect the environment;
- Providing manufacturers warranty programmes to support our range to ensure that products can be repaired, maintained or replaced throughout their whole of life;
- Working with suppliers to ensure that furniture and technology products can be collected for recycling efficiently, and where possible, diverted from landfill.

Our environmentally friendly products are recognised with icons to highlight their credentials.
